CALL TO ORDER

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Good afternoon. This is the meeting of the Fulton County Library System Board of Trustees. My name is Nina Radakovich, I'm the Chair. At this time, I'm calling the meeting to order. Do we have any public comments?

PUBLIC COMMENTS

MRS. ZENOBIA CLAXTON: Good afternoon. We do not have any public comments today.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All right. We have the agenda to adopt. Do I hear a motion to adopt the agenda?

25-41 ADOPTION OF AGENDAMOTION

MS. BEVERLY RICE: So, moved.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Second.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Any discussion? All in favor?

TRUSTEES: Aye.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: The agenda is adopted. Next, we need to approve the minutes from the last meeting, which was August 27th.

25-40 APPROVAL OF MINUTES - AUGUST 27, 2025MOTION

MS. BEVERLY RICE: I make a motion to approve the minutes from August 27, 2025.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I'll second that.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All in favor?

TRUSTEES: Aye.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All right, it passes. I do not have a report today. Mr. Kaplan.

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Yes.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Are you ready to do the work orders?

WORK ORDERS REPORT - PAUL KAPLAN

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Yes, sure, I got it. Okay, we had 187 work orders last month, that was the month of August. The total completion was 126, it's about a 68 percent completion. Just kind of give you a little bit of breakdown, we had 36 HVAC problems, 19 plumbing problems, 33 electrical problems, and about 99 miscellaneous. I'm going to run through you real quickly, when I say by miscellaneous, what it really means, and then it's kind of not in order. We had doors, hand railings that were loose, ceiling tiles that were stained, events set up, and bathroom cleaning not done correctly. Men's bathroom, the tiles falling apart, floor repairs, roof leaks, air quality bad, landscaping, door problems, lock problems, pressure washing, surplus, which means the pickup of debris, windows not cleaning enough. Rodent problems, general cleaning, plumbing problems again, and security alarm and so on. Just to give you an idea, when I say there's 99 miscellaneous, that's what it consists of. I can't break it all down there. It would take me probably about a month. My eyesight would probably go bad after that. But it's just a bunch of miscellaneous things. The highest problem with all of them is Central Library, it's still the most on the HVAC. We have not done certification yet. I don't know if it's set up. I have not been able to talk to the Director for the DREAM Team, and I'm not sure when they're going to go about doing that. I think the weather has been cooperative in the last couple of weeks, unless our director has other -- anything other to tell me about that. But it's the normal problems, either too hot or too cold.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes. That's essentially what it has been, too hot or too cold.

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Okay. Other than that, that's it. But there's a lot going on. There's a lot of things that they do during the month.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Sounds like everything you want in a house.

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Right. That's it.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Are there any questions for Mr. Kaplan?

TRUSTEES: (No responses.)

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All right. Thank you very much. We can move on to the Director's reports.

25-44 DIRECTOR'S REPORTS

LIBRARY SERVICES AND TRENDS

FCLS LOOK AHEAD EVENTS/PROGRAMS

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, thank you, Madam Chair. Good afternoon, everyone. I'm glad to be here, and glad to see all of you. We are busy always in the library system. Lots of things are happening. Some of the trends and services that we're -- that are going on right now are, we have a lot of failing computers. We are working with IT, I just had a meeting with them today about those things. We've got some new computers coming online to replace the old ones. They're about to add on Windows 11. So, we've got some things happening. It's going to take time, though. It isn't easy to do. They don't have a lot of resources to send people out at once to various locations. So it's a slow process, but it will get done. It's just going to take some time. Here in the system, we are down now to 12 vacancies. I'm glad to report.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Wow.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: You know, usually we're at 34, 36, 40, and at one point, 76.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: So, we're down to 12 vacancies. They have been doing, the Administrators have done a yeoman's job of setting up these interviews and getting these positions filled. So, we're real happy about that. We do have a concern. As far as trends go, a lots of people tend to be, for some reason, acting out in libraries. We're having a rash of that type of thing, and I mean, just every level of service, as far as locations. Places that never used to have a lot of situations are having them, and we're not sure of what's going on. I mean, just very odd things that people are doing. These are adults. These are not kids, and that's what's so strange about it. But then again, we have people with a lot of other issues, and they bring them into the library. So we're not qualified, of course, to judge any of those things or make any determinations about them. But it appears that there are things going on with them that they bring with them, and it just manifests itself in the libraries. We try not to be too, you know, just bang people against the noggin, so to speak, with all these policies. But we do have to obey them so that everyone can enjoy the facilities. So, we're just -- we're working with security. You're going to hear from security next month. We will have Captain Schierle, Major Schierle, here with us, and Lieutenant Weems. So, you can ask some questions or whatever. But it's -- it's a very -- I don't know, it just seems to be an uprising or a new day of that type of behavior. Then you'll go for a period of time and there won't be some many problems. So, we're just trying -- we don't know what's driving it, if anything, but it's just the sign of the times, perhaps. Any questions on that?

MR. JOE PIONTEK: My daughter and I had that very conversation this morning. I think it's just thing going on in the community right now?

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Right.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, I just think it's just --

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes, it'll pass.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: -- the time.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: It'll pass.

25-42 MONTHLY FINANCIAL REPORT

25-43 MONTHLY USAGE SUMMARY

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I hope. Anyway, our monthly financial report you have, we're a little over $9.6 million remaining for the year in the budget. Any questions on that? Our monthly usage report is here, and I hope that you all had a chance to look at it. In some areas, we're getting -- we're showing some improvement, and I'm glad to see it. We're still concerned a bit over what's going on with Children's Services. So, we're still looking to see just what we can do to get the children attending programs more. That's a little bit concerning. It's not too bad. But then this month, August, we dropped in attendance and programming for teens. So, you know, it's kind of like we were doing real good with adults and real good with teens, and now we're kind of, you know, out of order here with the teens. So, we're going to look at those programs and see what we can do. There're some ideas that I and others have for the new year, and so we're kicking those around and try to put them in place. We're going to see what difference we can make for all ages.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Director, Holloman.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, sir.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: So, with the teen programs, so --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I'm sorry?

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: With the teen programs, is it -- is there a lack of interest, or is there just a lack of programming, meaning things that we think that the teens would want to attend?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Well, you know, it's always kind of difficult to know what will attract them and keep their attention. We do know the STEAM and STEM programs really work well with them. That's why the Teen Tech Center works, Best Buy Teen Tech Center works so well for us. But we don't have one of those everywhere. So, that's part of the problems. But we're looking at some other things, like maybe, podcasting equipment, things of that nature that can maybe bring out -- or they could use to show their interest and learn some things. It's just a hard group, you know, they're working, they're going to school. They're trying to do the -- they're combining, they're doing a lot of combined things that we knew nothing about back in the day, so to speak. They're influencers, and they're making money off of that. So, you know, it's hard for us to compete --

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Right.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: -- in a lot of ways.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: AI training?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I'm sorry?

MR. JOE PIONTEK: AI training.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Well, we're looking into that, too. As I mentioned, I think last month, we were having AI, an AI component, to our Staff Development Day this year, which is taking place in October. So, we've got some challenges, and that's one of them, continuing. I think they had a lot of interest during the Summer Reading Program, but it ended on August 1st. So, then we had the rest of the month, but maybe they just were tired, I don't know, or going on vacation, perhaps, because they've done so many other things. So, we'll see what the uptick is for this month, and then start, you know, challenging ourselves to see what else we can do.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Do we have a survey mechanism for teens?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: That would be a good thing for us to create. We've done so in many -- in years past and -- but not lately. So that would be a good thing for us to do. We'll look into that.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Thank you.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: One of the things, also, I was thinking about was, like, the students, they're coming up on a vacation, October 14th through the 17th, perhaps, you know, this may be too soon, but in the future, on the weeks when they're out of school that we can create some activities for them that would help to draw them back into the library.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right. That would be great, too. I wrote that down. But we're always open for suggestions, because that is a tough group. That's our toughest group, really. The children kind of get brought by their parents or sent by their parents or their teachers or their other caregivers. It's hard when they get to be teenagers, especially in middle school and all. I was reading an article last week that was real concerning to me, that statistics are now showing that high school kids are not reading, they're not reading on grade level. 11th and 12th-graders are not reading on grade level. We used to always talk about the middle school kid, the eighth grader. But it's not just the eighth grader now. So, we've got some challenges there, I think, and some things that we might be able to make a difference, I'm hoping. But they have to be -- they have to be --

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: There are lots of festivals going on in the fall. Do the libraries have a presence at those festivals? I know in my area, East Atlanta, Ormewood Park, the cemetery, and Oakland Cemetery, are all having festivals. So, do we try to get a library presence there?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: We have not necessarily done that in those particular ones you just mentioned. Years ago, we participated with Strut in East Atlanta.

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: Yes.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: At one point, I was the Manager of the old East Atlanta Library, so we used to go there and look forward to it. We do have the Bookmobile, led by our Administrator, Nicolas Rodriguez, who takes the Bookmobile out as he receives requests for it. We don't have enough resources to make it happen at everything. But often, we are invited to those festivals and various things like that. So, we will participate when we know of it, those are great opportunities for us.

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: Yes, I think Candler Park has one in October as well. So, I think there are a lot of neighborhood festivals in the fall when the weather clears a little bit, and those might be good places to have a library presence.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right. When they see that Bookmobile, they just really get excited, so and all ages get excited. So, I'll have to tell Nicolas, we have to beef that up.

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: Yes.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Okay.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Maybe it's the slug of kids that were in COVID that have now moved up to, they're teenagers now, so you're seeing --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Perhaps.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I mean, if that's what the --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I don't know.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: If there's a crawl, maybe that's what it is.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I don't know what it would have to do with it, but perhaps. We just don't know. We don't know what we don't know.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: But you've already stated, it's a lot of competition. Because just like the library is trying to draw, schools are trying to draw interest in the students too.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: So, they are coming up with all kinds of things to, you know, encourage the students and of interest to the students. So, it's a challenge, you know --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: -- and it is competition.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right. It's harder to get into the schools too than it used to be. Ages ago, we would be -- we would be able to be there for the morning announcements, if we get on and be excited and talk things up and tell them what was going on, leave information for them to take home to their parents, and all that. But we can't get into the schools now.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Right.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: They've got such a tight schedule, and they don't always let you do that. So, they're not able to come out with school buses because they got to be extraordinarily expensive. So, they don't let us bring the buses anymore. These bring buses of kids. I remember being a kid myself, and my mother paying that $4.50 for my sister and me to go down to go down to the Atlanta Symphony when they had an outing for us. But we can't do those things anymore because the money is just not there.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Right.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: So, things have just changed a lot, and it's much more challenging?

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: Do any of the libraries have gaming clubs? Because it seems to me that might be a way to get the kids in the door.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Well, we've tried the gaming component, and we actually set some up at some libraries. That ended up being kind of a concern because the kids would -- the kids, it just got to be very interesting and hard to kind of continue and promote. So, we just kind of let it fizzle out. It may be that we can visit it in another way, though, than what we were doing at that time. That was about maybe eight to ten years ago. We had gaming systems and all that kind of thing. They would sit all day playing games, and you know, so it's kind of like the chicken or the egg, you know? What do you want them doing? You know, it wasn't -- it wasn't necessarily educational pursuits.

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: Yes, okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Because the educational pursuits, stuff that we had on hand, they weren't interested in.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Well, it looks like it's really just the programming, because the correlation, you know, with programming down, then attendance is down, so.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right. There is a direct correlation.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Yes, direct correlation.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: But, you know, oftentimes, you know, we do some things that they're really interested in, they will come. So, we just have to figure out what they are interested in? There was a time we had Teen Advisory Boards. We don't have those anymore. We need to try and reinstate them. I think the only one that may still have it is Alpharetta. But we kind of let that slide. So, there are some things we need to do on our side as well, and we need to really get in step with all that for the new year. What's next? So, we've talked about the monthly usage summary. The Look Ahead, the bit -- the big thing that's coming up now, and you have some information on it, it's the One Book, One Read event, and that we're so excited about, on Saturday, October 25th, from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Charmaine Wilkerson will be here to talk about her book, Good Dirt. She's also going to afterwards, she's got, there's a sign up for people to -- she's going to look at 20, the writings of 20 people who get selected. She will give them some tips on their writing. That's going to be a wonderful opportunity, I think, for budding authors to hear from a writer who's written at least two books that I know of. She wrote Black Cake and, of course, Good Dirt. So please try to come, please talk it up, please tell people wherever you can about it. Because it's going to be here at the Central Library, and we just think it's a great opportunity for us. It's sponsored by our Atlanta-Fulton Public Library Foundation, and this will be our fourth book. The fourth or the fifth? The fourth.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: I think it's the fourth.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: So, we're very excited about that. Go on, Central Library?

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Yes.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

CENTRAL LIBRARY - UPDATE

AFPL FOUNDATION M.O.U. - UPDATE

RENTAL POLICY - DISCUSSION

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Okay. The Central Library has been in, just engaged in so many wonderful activities. The Artist in Residence series on the first floor, where they have a little room set up, they've just done tremendous work there. A few weeks ago, about two weeks ago, they had a humongous art discussion. They had a discussion group. It was a panel of artists talking about their work. Had over 200 people who were on that floor to listen and participate. That was phenomenal. We've not had an event quite like that before. These were adult patrons, and so just very excited to bring that forth. We're looking forward to some very exciting author programs here at Central, and to beefing up our children's programming here at Central.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Next, on the agenda is the Foundation's MOU, and unfortunately, I have not nothing to report on that.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Okay. Well, the rental policy is still as we left it, you all. We're still working toward that with DREAM. People in DREAM, they have not yet got it on the agenda for the Commissioners to review. But we're still looking forward to that. I forgot one thing I'd like to make you all aware of. There's a wonderful exhibit going on right now. I went to it last week on the day that it opened at the Auburn Avenue Research Library. It's called The Softness of -- I may be -- may have the title somewhat out of order. But it's The Softness of Black Women, and it's a feature, it's a wonderful series of how Black women have been perceived, and how they really are and can be. It goes back to, like, when I was a child, wearing the little bobby socks and the cute little dresses and all that kind of stuff. So, it's very nicely done. If you get a chance to go see it, please do. There were tons of people at the event last -- what was it, Friday night? I forgot which night it was, so many things run together. But it was really nice, and very well attended. People of all walks of life, and what have you were there, and it was just amazing. Victor Simmons and his staff did an excellent job of that presentation. I think it's going on all through the rest of this month and into October. So, if you get to see it, if you get a chance to go see it, please do. Yes.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: It's downstairs?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: It's on the second floor of Auburn Avenue Research Library.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Okay.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: I remember we discussed it some time ago, but having the calendar link, where we could subscribe to the events from the library and sync it with our Google calendars. Has that been complete --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I think you mentioned that. I don't know how we would do it, but we can look into it. Can one of you all make a note of that so I won't forget?

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I can show you.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: That would be awesome, and I guess --

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I can show you.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: -- that must be able to be done. But I'm just not familiar enough with the technology --

MR. JOE PIONTEK: It's easy.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: -- but we'll be happy to look into it. It would be great.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: All 34.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, it would be great. Now, that's a lot. That's a lot. I mean, we had one library last, in August that had 52 programs. One, I think Alpharetta had 60 or close to it. So, I mean, you know, it's amazing, some of the -- so you're going to get probably 400 or 500 programs that you would know about. But then you could pick and choose, I guess.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Yes, maybe if there's a way you could do a query and save by particular libraries.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes, I was just thinking, you know, you could open up who could contribute to the calendar. So, all 34 libraries would have a -- the Director of the library, that could put the events on it. But then we could just download the link, and you would have all of the events come down or be available on your calendar.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Oh, there's so many events I missed, I'm like, oh --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I know, I know.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Same with me, yes.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, it would be great to do that. So, let's look into it.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I can help.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: But please know, there are a lot of them when you put them together, there are tons of them. But that's a great idea, I like that.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Thank you.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Well, they don't clutter up your calendar, because you can turn a contributor calendar on and off. So, if it's, you know, like having Braves games on your calendar, they're all over the place.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right, oh, yes.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: You turn them off and not have to see them all.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Oh, okay.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: So, that will be live by the next meeting?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I know if Zenobia and Audrey can make it happen, it will be.

MRS. ZENOBIA CLAXTON: We will test it.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: If they can make it happen, they'll do it.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: There's no reason why not to.

MRS. ZENOBIA CLAXTON: Okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Okay, Madam Chair, new business?

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: No, rental.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Oh, the rental policy, we still haven't changed anything.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Okay.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Except for the red wine part.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Except for the red wine part.

NEW BUSINESS

24-54 FCLS 2025 HOLIDAY/CLOSING CALENDAR - REVISED

MOTION

BOARD OF TRUSTEES RECOMMENDATION ON APPEAL OF BAN -

RADY WILLIAMS

MOTION

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Okay. We have a holiday and closing calendar that I think was today.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right. Recently, the Board of Commissioners voted to give us the -- all members of the county, the day after Christmas and the day after New - - is it New Year's?

MS. BEVERLY RICE: The day before. New Year's Eve.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: No, we already had that.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Oh, New Year's Eve, okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, we didn't have --

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: -- the 26th falls on a Friday, and we would have just had your family over on the 25th, so they gave us that date. Then they voted on that and passed it, and then the same thing with the 3rd of January.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Question?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: No, not the 3rd of January, the Friday.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes, right.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: That Friday, the two Fridays. Friday, January 2nd.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Director Holloman --

MS. BEVERLY RICE: And the 3rd.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: -- with staffing getting up to speed, once we're fully staffed, is there consideration that we start to reopen on Sundays?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: You have to have a ton of staff to be open on Sundays, and we don't have it. We're working toward it, but it's very difficult. The problem with it is that, if -- we already, when you work Saturday, then you're off, you have -- you'd have another day off between Wednesday and Tuesday, because our work -- our work week is Wednesday to Tuesday. So, you got to have Friday off, Monday off, or some of those days. If we add Sunday, the same thing, it's a half a day, so it's a day and a half. Some people choose to put their weekend assignment together. Some choose to separate it, that means they work -- could be working every weekend for two weeks in a row, and you don't have enough staff to make that happen. Some of these libraries only have five staff, or four staff.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: We need to have a staffing level much different than that. The larger libraries need to have at least ten people. We need to have at least eight people in the middle sized, and at least six people in the smaller libraries. We're just not there.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Okay. Have there been any requests by the Commissioners for that or for their --

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Well, part of the problem why we cannot -- we may be very soon, with only 12 vacancies now, to ask for something else regarding hiring. But we have carried too many people, too many vacancies for too long. So, with all those vacancies, they're not going to consider giving me additional staff. That's part of the trade-off, you know, you've got all these people, you can't fill, and you go over and over, and keep going, year to year, carrying over 30 vacancies, you know, that's just not feasible. You know, it is a business, it's a business concern. So, I get that. But now that's why they work so hard to fill these vacancies and try to get the people in here. But then you get people retiring, people move, you know, doing all kinds of reasons for leaving. You hire somebody for -- and they stay for a month. We just had that happen, and then they're gone. You know, we had somebody we hired, they would stay two weeks. Then, and that takes a lot of interviewing and all that type of thing, and then to have people leave. So, we're trying to think of how we can motivate folks to want to work here. We are not as competitive. We used to be the big dog, so to speak, and we're not anymore, with hiring, with the salaries, so that's a concern. So, there's just a lot of things that go into that. But we want to do it, you know, it's not that we don't want to do it. But it just takes a lot to make it happen.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Chip, do you see a need for libraries to be open on Sundays?

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: At one time, that was a concern.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: We heard about it, but I haven't heard anything recently.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: No, people have not been talking about -- a lot of our libraries around the nation are not open on Sundays anymore. DeKalb --

MR. JOE PIONTEK: It was a concern when we first got it.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, DeKalb is not open on Sundays. So, you know, I know there's a thought about being open or not being open on Sundays. But I have to say, staff need a break sometimes too, because they work sometimes straight six days, you know, and they're off on Monday, perhaps. So, if you have Sunday and Monday, you still got two days. So, it's just a lot of ways to look at it. But it's not that we don't want to offer it. We do, and at some point, I know -- I know that we will go back to it. We've not had any complaints of late, and that's been a positive.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: It may be that more digital use --

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Yes.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: -- allows people to use the library from home.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Right.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Yes, yes.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: I think so.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Yes, I do too.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: So, October is our last meeting this year? We're not having a November, we're not having a December meeting?

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Is it?

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Well, November is on Thanksgiving, and December is Christmas Eve.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Isn't your date different?

MRS. ZENOBIA CLAXTON: No.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Am I counting wrong?

MRS. ZENOBIA CLAXTON: Yes.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Okay.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: Yes, we chose a different day.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Now, that was highly probable.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: With the changes here, do I hear a motion to approve this holiday closing calendar for 2025?

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: So, moved.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Second.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All in favor?

TRUSTEES: Aye.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All right. This is approved then. The calendar is final.

MRS. GAYLE H. HOLLOMAN: We thank you.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: So, the next thing is the Board of Trustees' recommendation on appeal of banning, filed by Rady Williams. If you all remember, he attended by Zoom last month. We need now to recommend what we think should be the result. As for the dates, I'm going to ignore the banning issue that was, that occurred a year ago, because he never appealed that. So, he was banned until a year from then. I don't -- that was in September, so his ban is about to expire if it is not already expired. As for the one this year, the misconduct on the -- from the code of conduct, the notice of ban went to him on August 6th. The hearing was last month at our meeting, August 27th, and then this Board has 30 days to make a decision on what they will recommend.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: This is for a permanent ban.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Well, that's one of the three options.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I see.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Then after we make our recommendation, the Director has 14 days, and that would make it October 8th, to determine what the final punishment is. So, there are three options: To reverse the decision of the Director, I move that this Board recommend to reverse the permanent ban issued to Rady Williams on August 6th of this year, and that this Board timely issue a written statement to the Library Director accordingly. That's number one, to make a determination that he did not violate the code of conduct and that he should not be banned from the libraries. He gave an explanation that was somewhat unclear a month ago. But that was his response. The second option, and these are three motions that somebody can make. I move that this Board recommend to modify the permanent ban issued to Rady Williams by shortening it to X days, weeks, months, or years, beginning retroactively and that this Board timely issue a written statement to the Library Director accordingly. So that means we would change the length of it. Finally, affirm, I move that this Board recommends to affirm the permanent ban issued to Rady Williams on August 27th, and that this Board timely issue a written statement to the Library Director accordingly.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I move that we affirm the Director's decision for the permanent ban from -- for Mr. Rady Williams.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: I second that motion.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Any discussion?

TRUSTEES: (No responses.)

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All in favor?

TRUSTEES: Aye.

MR. PAUL BOLSTER: I should abstain, since I was not there to hear him in the public comment, so put me down as abstaining in this case.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Okay. What about you, Mr. Kaplan? Did you get to --

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: No, I said, aye.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Okay. It's unanimous, then, or -- I don't know if that's unanimous or not with an abstention, I guess not. But --

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Chip.

MR. D. CHIP JOYNER: Oh, I support the recommendation of the Board. I was not in that hearing, so --

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: So one, two, three, four. Yes, we still have four votes, I think, to affirm.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: Yes, we do.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Okay. I think that concludes our business. Does anybody have any questions about the vote we just had or anything else before we go?

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Was there any correspondence since the last time when he met with us? Did he try to contact anybody at all?

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: I don't believe so.

MR. JOE PIONTEK: I think we've had a vote on that. Let's not buy it back.

MR. PAUL KAPLAN: Yes.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: You know, he did write a separate document that was modeled on a court document. But there was no court listed, and there was no specific guilty or not guilty reference in there. So, it really wasn't relevant to his claim that banning was not right. Do I hear a motion to adjourn?

ADJOURNMENT

MOTION

MR. JOE PIONTEK: So, moved.

MS. BEVERLY RICE: Second.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: All in favor?

TRUSTEES: Aye.

CHAIR NINA RADAKOVICH: Thank you very much.

(Whereupon, the Regular Meeting of the Board of Trustees concluded at 4:35 p.m.)
